Sto-Ro

It takes courage to face classes filled with young girls, each one having a seemingly endless parade of small problems needing your attention or advice.

It takes a great deal of patience to transform a group of awkward, giggling teenage girls into a group of poised, polite young ladies.

It takes real school spirit to walk around the gym with a victory sign during a pep assembly.

It takes an exceptionally hardworking and dedicated teacher to merit the respect that we have for you.

For these reasons, we dedicate the 1969 Mirror to you, Miss Gentile.

MONTOUR

YEAR . . . as we lived it.

MONTOUR

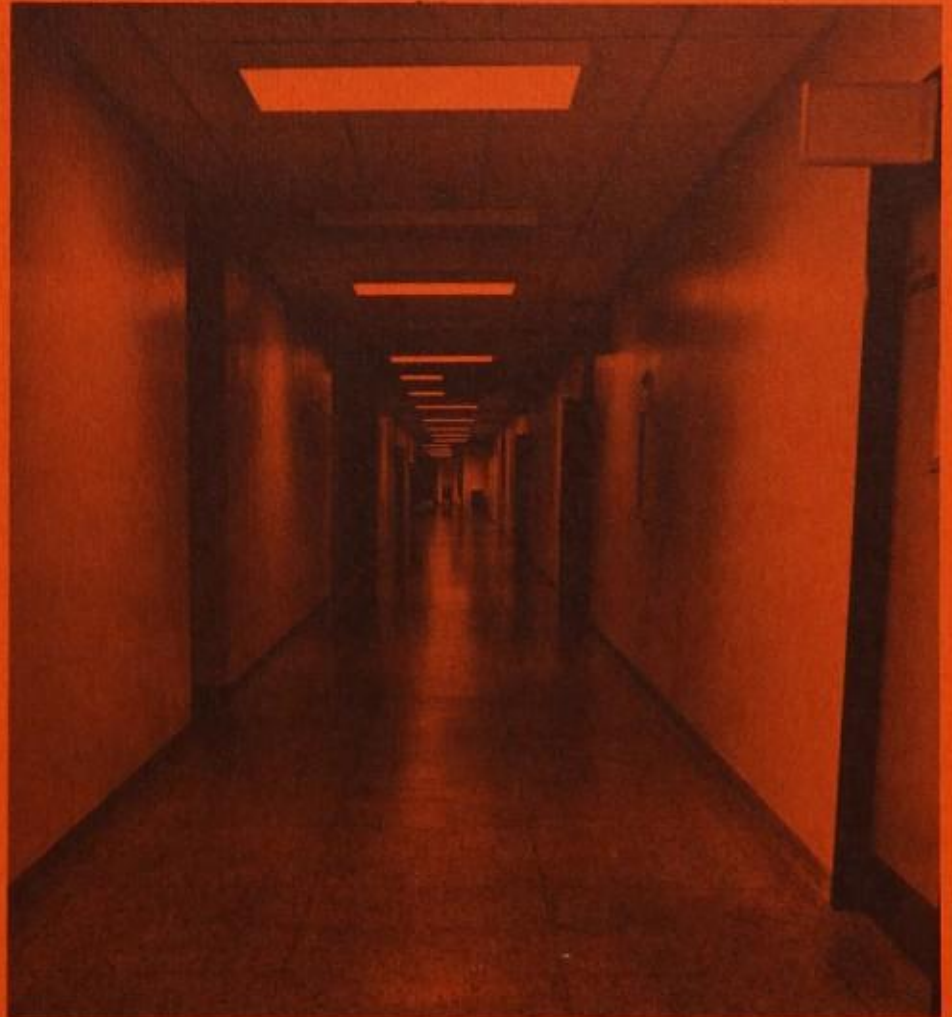

MONTOUR

In the beginning

there was...

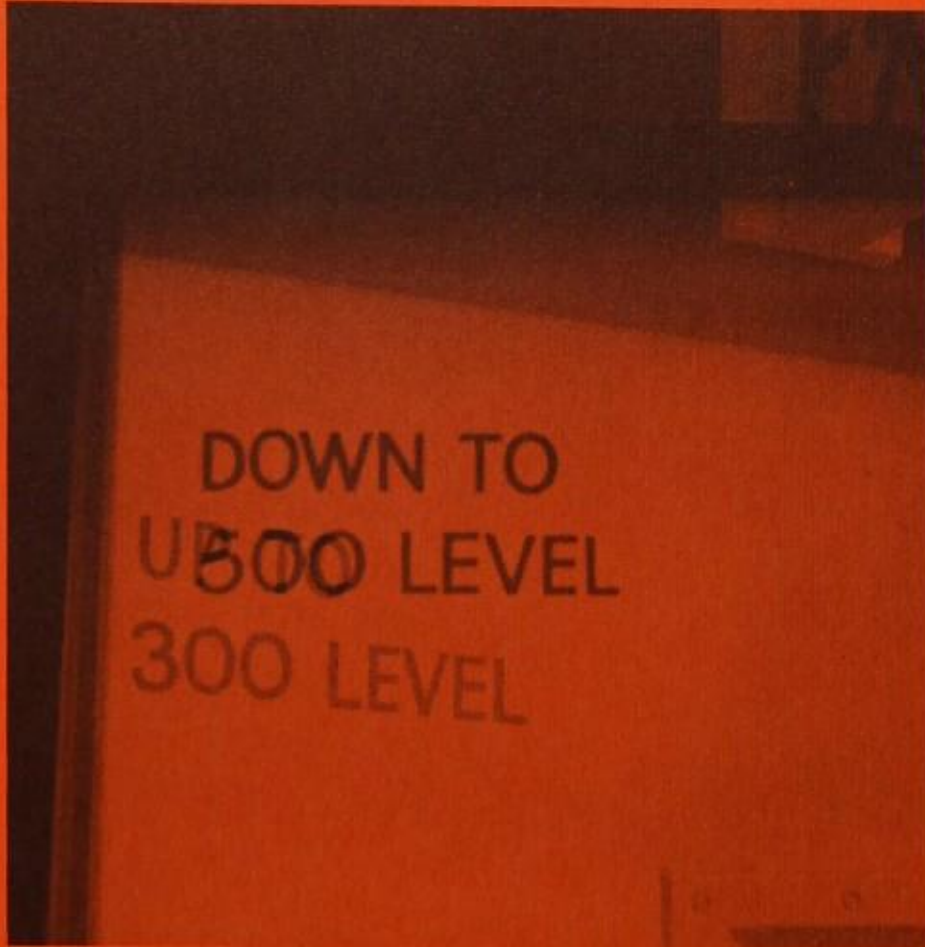

Silence.

Vacant school buildings stared from their dark empty windows — waiting. A new school sat quietly preparing for the fourth of September when it would fling open its doors to reveal its exciting and unexplored intricacies.

So much emptiness — parking lots devoid of cars, practice fields bereft of their eager young athletes, open doors leading to empty rooms.

And while our school sat patiently waiting, we, the students of Montour, were enjoying the easy summer life — late breakfasts, lazy afternoons, sun bathing, swim parties, long evenings — totally unconscious of the vigil on the hill.

confusion in the halls

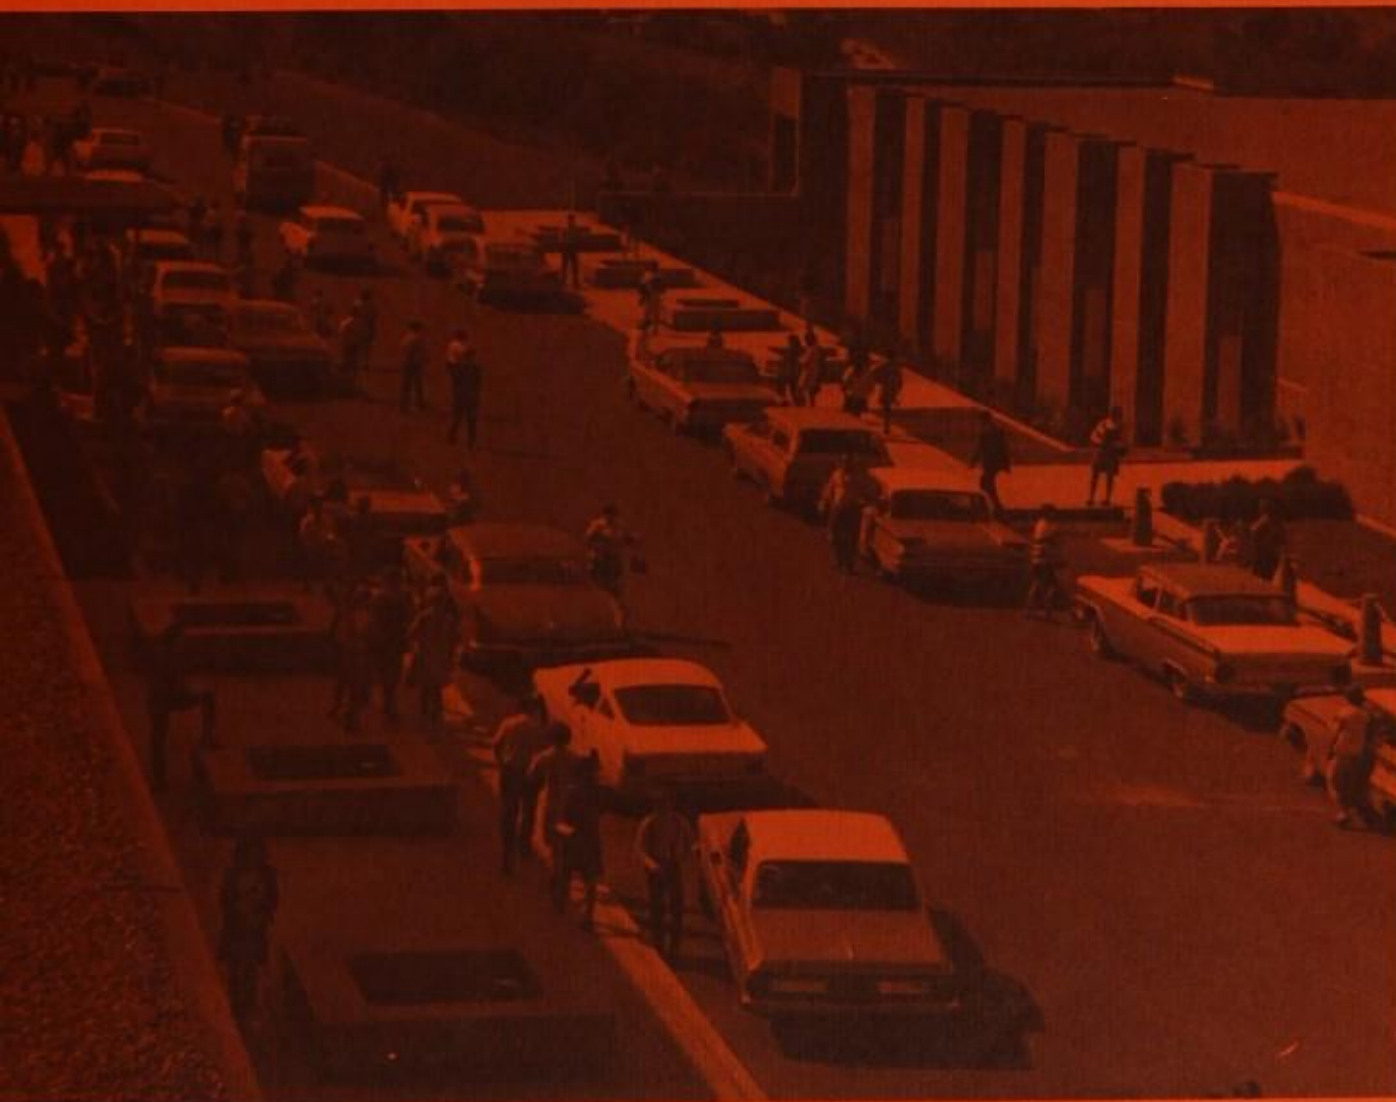

Comes September 4, and we find ourselves up at seven o'clock searching for clothes that aren't where they were the night before, grabbing a quick breakfast, and running for the bus.

If there is one word to describe these first days, it is most certainly 'confusion'. There are the problems of finding your homeroom, getting used to the strange-sounding bells, and running to find staircases, floors, and rooms. We must become accustomed to new rules, new patterns, and new teachers. Our supreme struggle in getting used to garden party style cafeteria was evident in the increased number of overturned trays and broken dishes. Yet, as we fight to establish some type of order in the chaos, we are constantly aware of the beauty and mystery of our totally new and not-quite-completed school.

When the day is over, we share our experiences as well as the details of our schedules with our friends, finding new bonds in old friendships.

As the days run on, the school slowly reveals its intricacies and its plans for us, and gradually school becomes school again, different, yet the same.

We're from Montour,

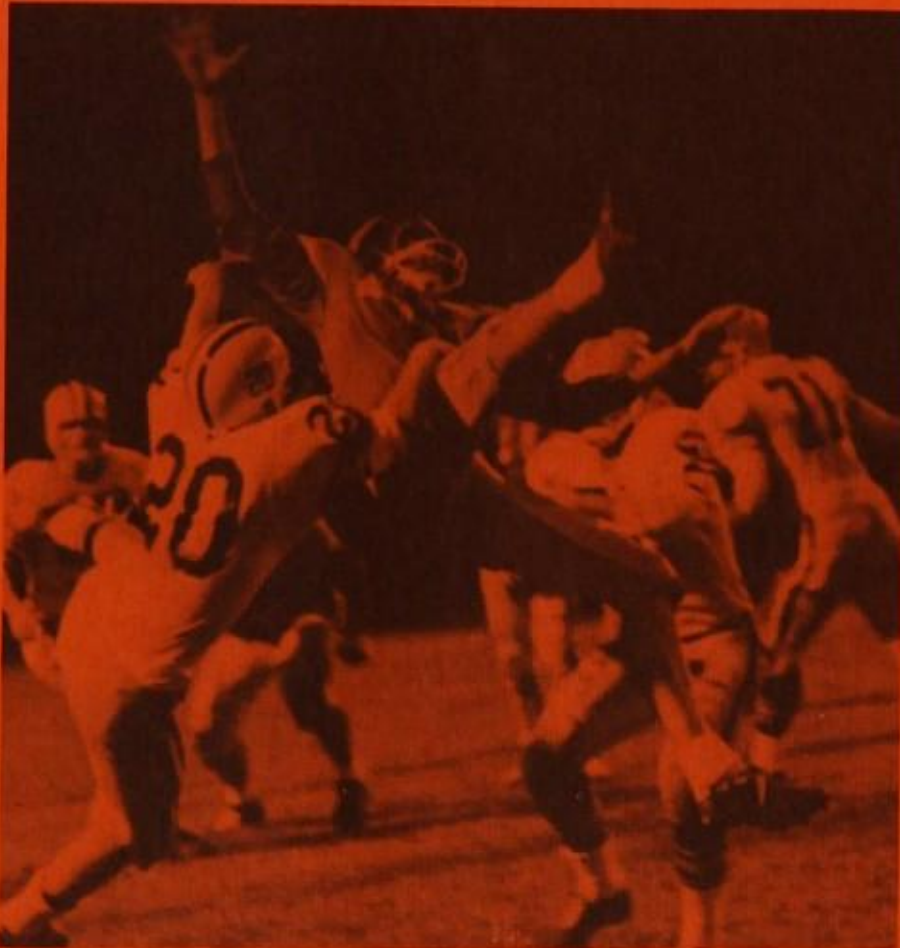

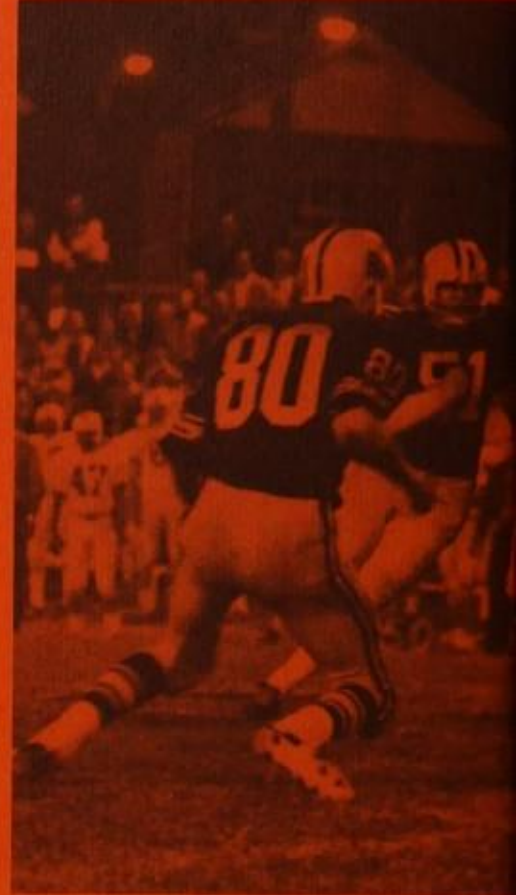

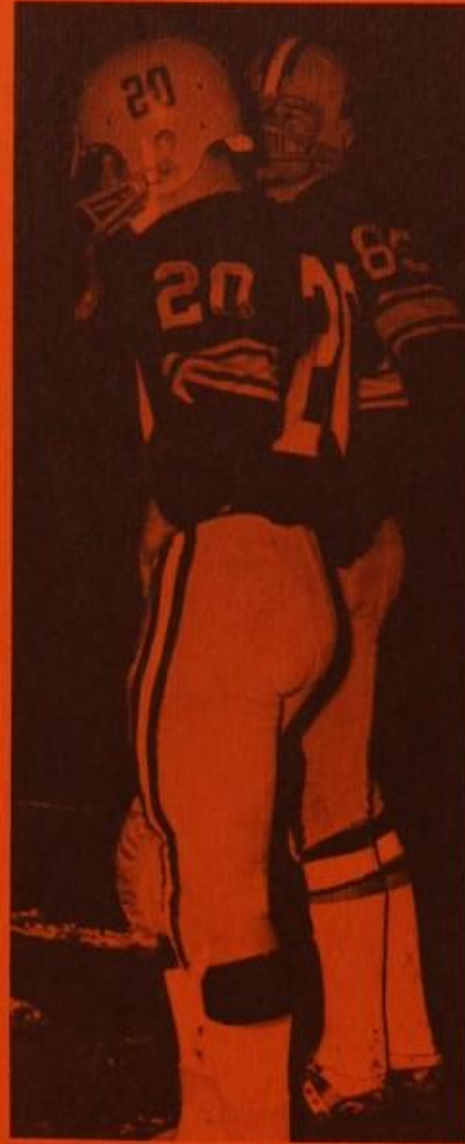

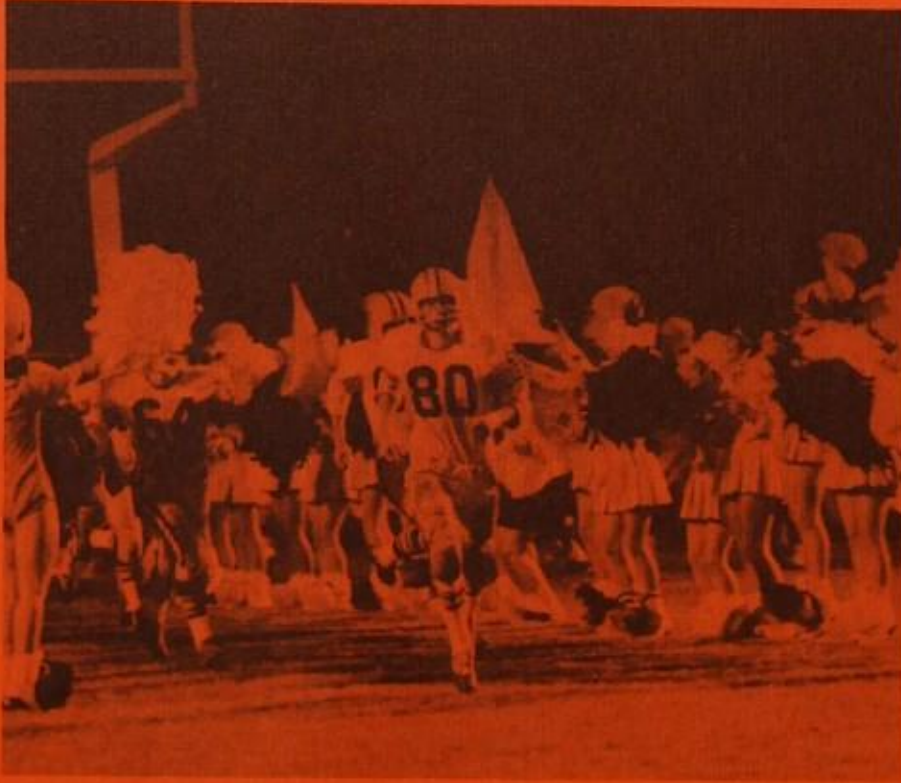

Spirit is the word this fall. With a new school, there has come a new student body. A student body that is over-flowing in pep, continually active, and outstanding in school spirit. A new pride for our school and a special loyalty to it come with us to Montour in September and come to stay.

We will always remember the bonfire that rainy night and the pep assemblies where we shouted ourselves hoarse. We remember the victory song, the battle cry, the impromptu cheers to the tunes of television commercials. These are a part of Montour, and thus a part of us. Inseperable.

Couldn't be prouder !!!

The football season is

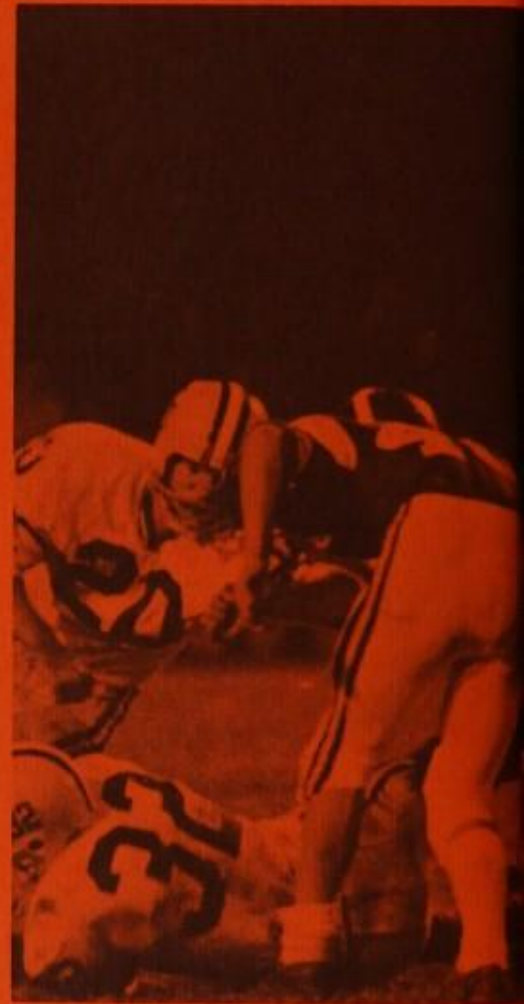

September 6 — our first football game, we all know its going to be a tough one.

Friday evening, we find ourselves ready ten minutes early, yet it seems as though we're late, as if we should already be there at the stadium.

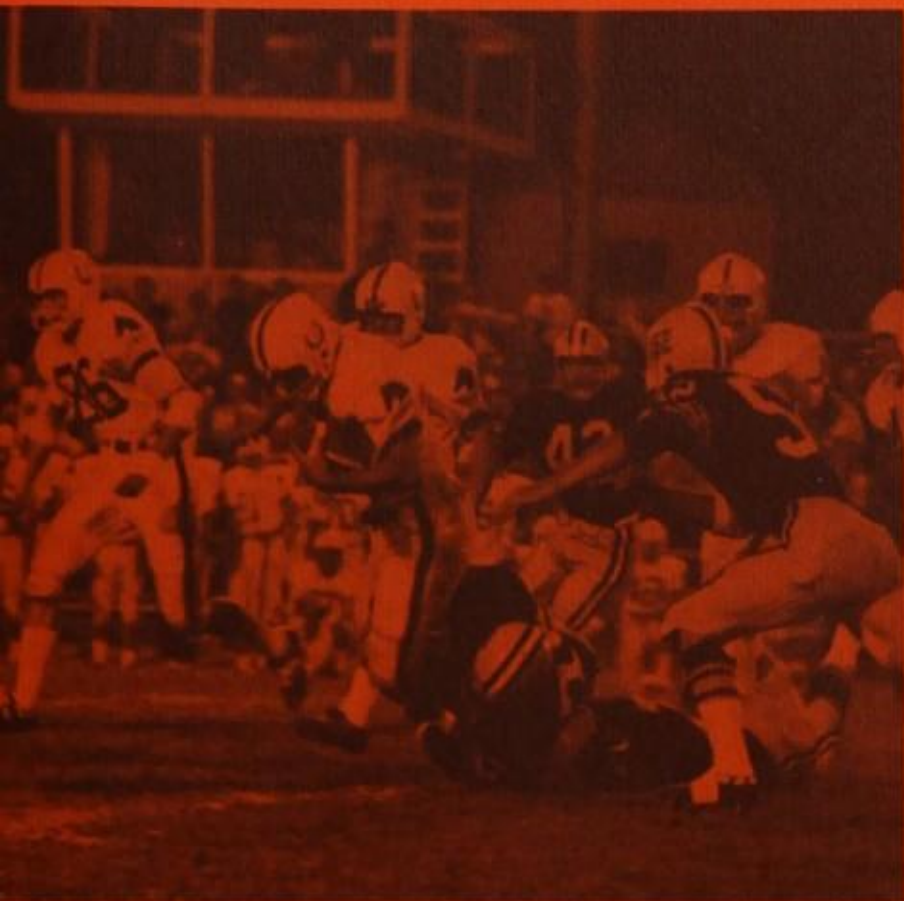

Once at the gates, we're caught up in the great surge of the crowd — the surge of school spirit, excited anticipation, and hope.

The first half passes quickly, and, with only a few minutes left, the scoreboard reads 12-0. We're losing. Everyone is hoping that we just get something on the board before half time. Everyone is secretly afraid that when our boys run off the field, the remarkable spirit of the crowd might run off with them and not return after half time.

We fight, we cheer until our hearts hurt as much as our throats and the touchdown comes. We jump and scream, we laugh and cry, and grab each others hands. Now we know we are going to win.

punts and passes,

We need one touchdown to win the game — so little to ask, so much to accomplish. Our boys on the field are excited. We know they feel what we in the stands feel, for after all, we are Montour. And, as if our voices can carry the ball across the goal line, we shout until our voices crack and our throats ache.

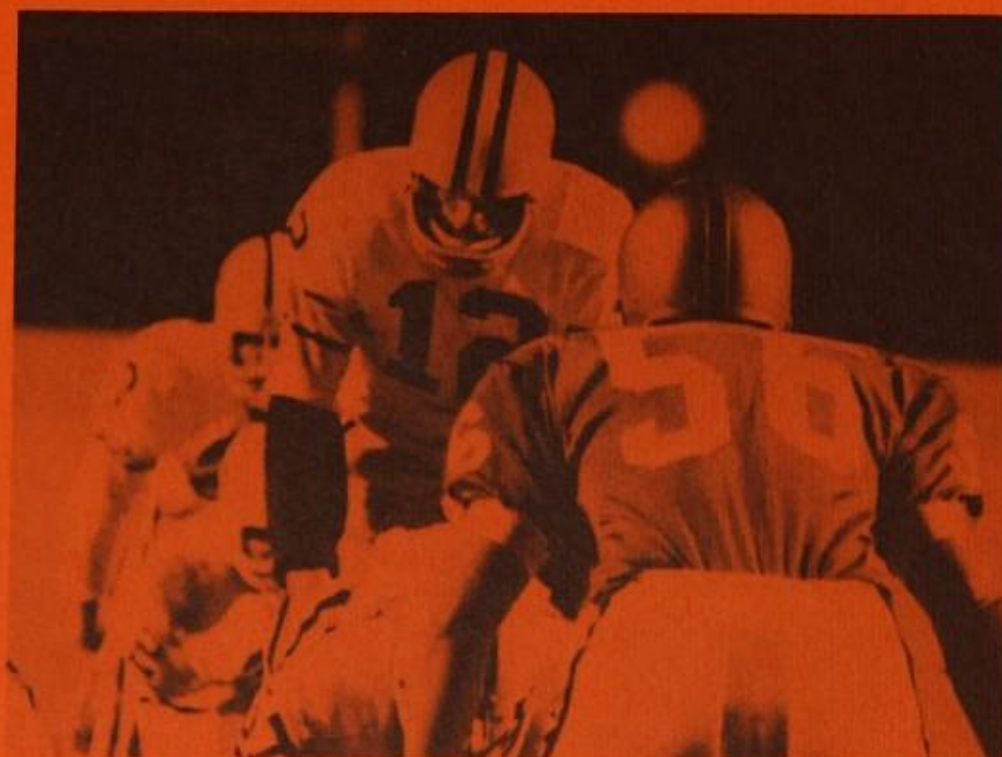

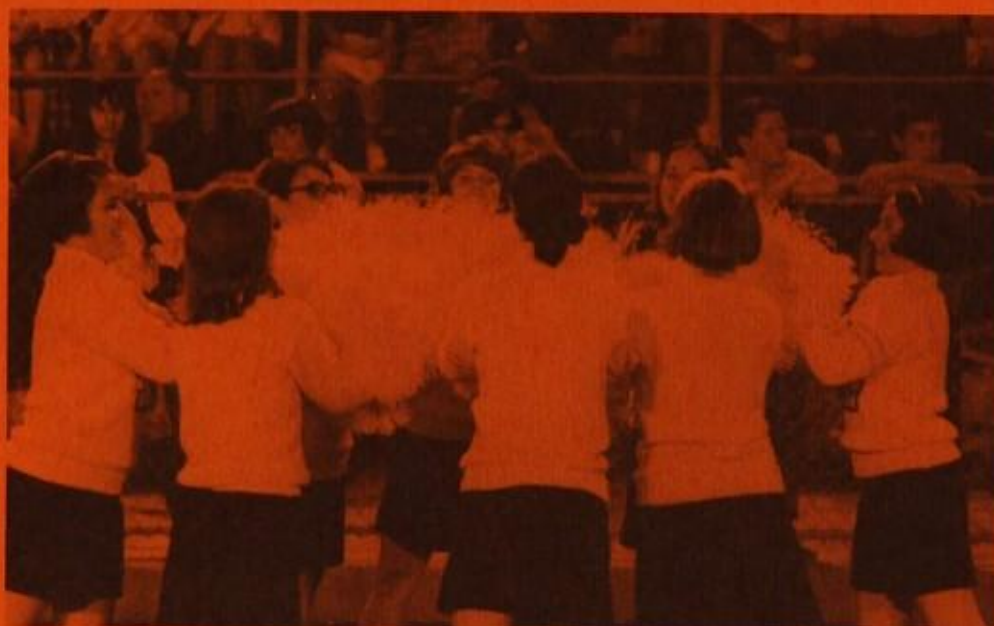

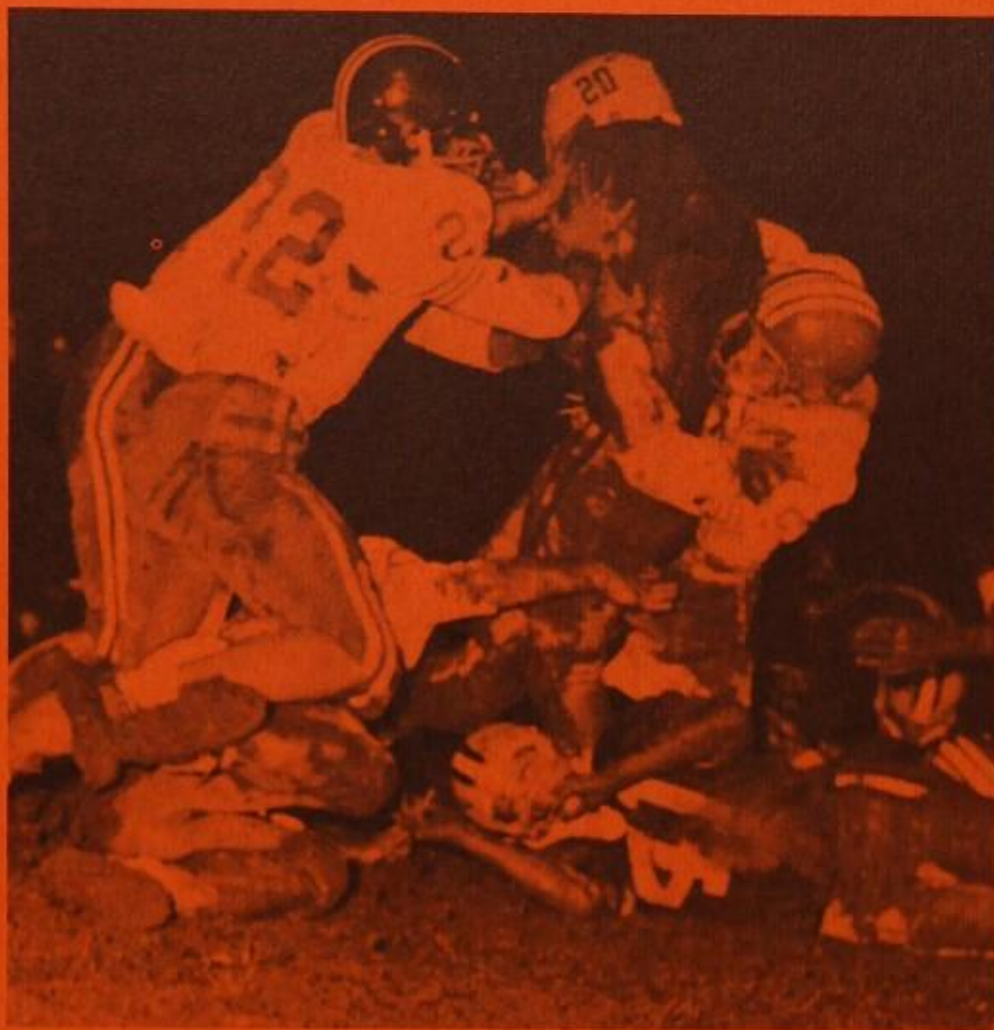

Our team crawls closer and closer to the goal line until finally the referee throws up his hands. Touchdown! Pandemonium breaks loose. It's first touchdown all over again. We sing our victory song and search out friends' faces as we struggle for balance on the bleachers. When we find them, the hugging and crying starts all over again.

Never have we felt so much a part of Montour as we do tonight. We feel united in the fact that we are the new Montour — special, victorious, number one. The seniors have a special feeling; now we all really feel for the first time that we are seniors, the seniors of Montour. We have left the realms of the underclassmen at the entrance gates of the stadium, and, somehow, this victory can't quite mean as much to anyone else as it does to us.

The scoreboard clock reads 30 seconds, and the crowd begins to count down. "... three . . . two . . . one!" We've won! The excitement lasts beyond the gates, all the way home, and still will be alive on Monday. We are anxious to see the late news and the morning papers. Perhaps, it is now that we realize that we aren't going to be beaten this season.

Saturday comes; we wear our sore throats like a medal. So proud.

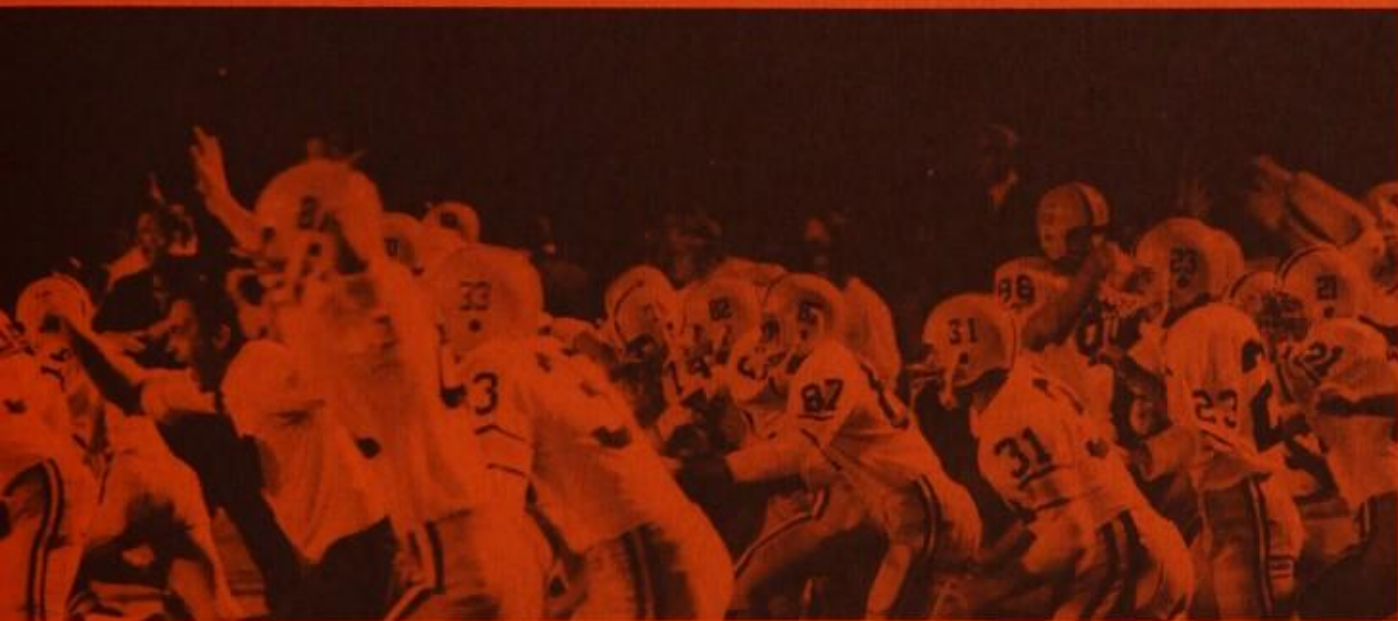

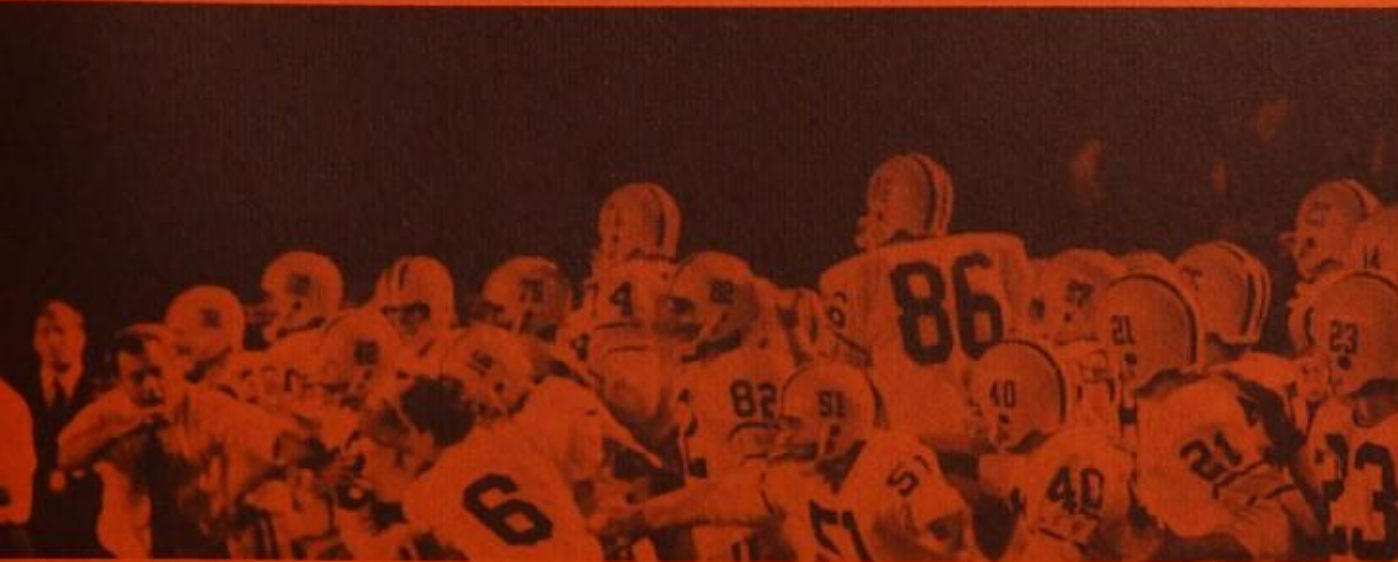

boos and cheers,

Comes the next Friday, and the next as we continue on our glorious path to victory. We tromp Trinity, knock out North Catholic, and can the Chartiers Valley Colts just as our ribbons predict.

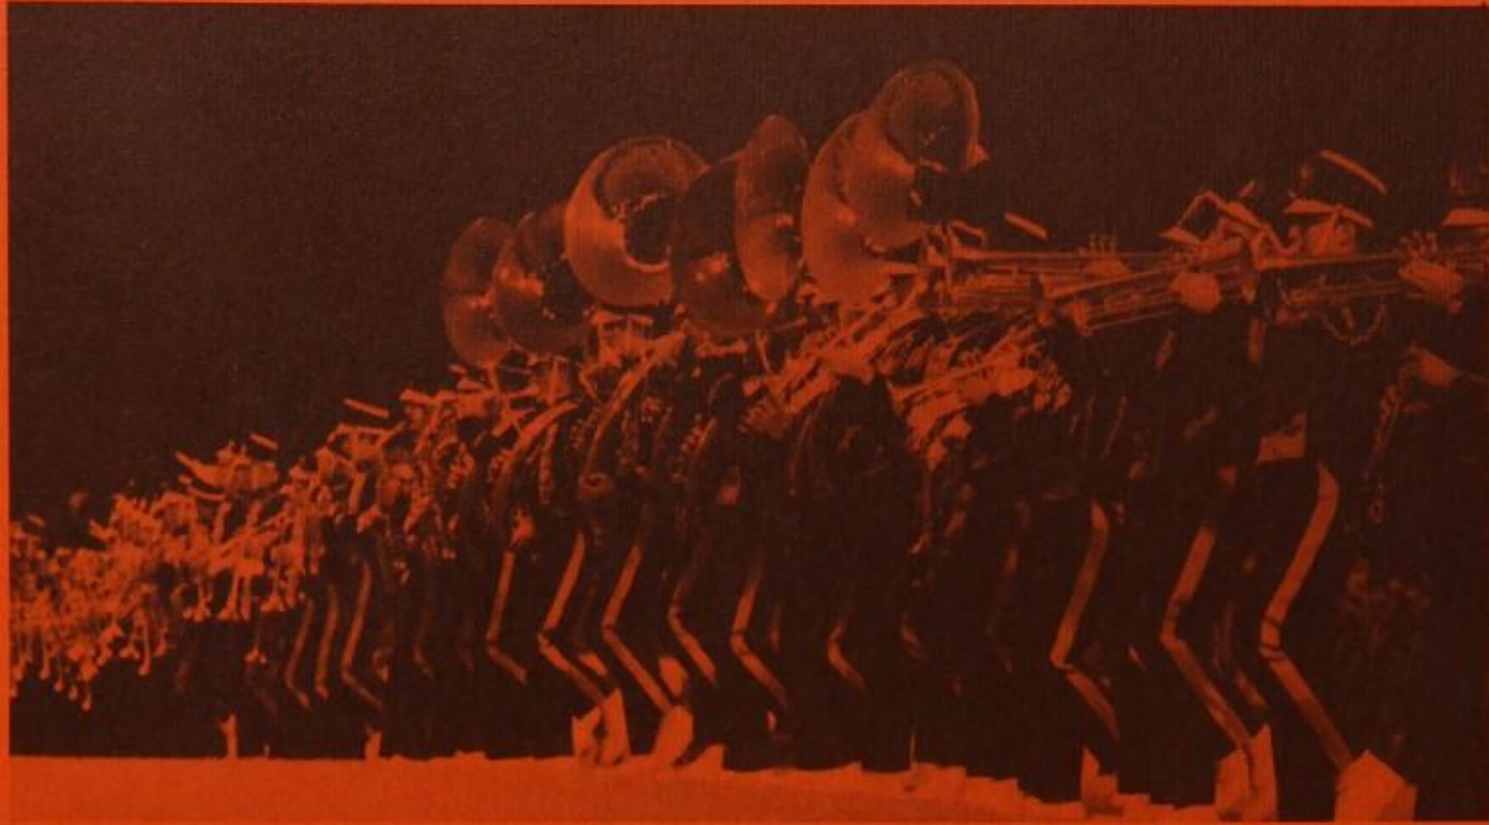

Then comes the Hopewell game. We learn as we cheer to the last second of the game with tears in our eyes and hearts hurting even more than our throats that the only thing worse than elimination by a loss is elimination by a tie.

(7) wins and ~~losses~~-- a tie!

But we can't let this tie dampen our spirits for we have other games to win. We're still Number One. We go on to blast Baldwin and on October 25, on the muddy fields of Sto-Rox, we once again show our strength. We trap the Moon Tigers in our final game of the season and finish with a total record of seven wins and a tie. Montour's philosophy — "They might tie us, but they'll never beat us."

And of course . . .

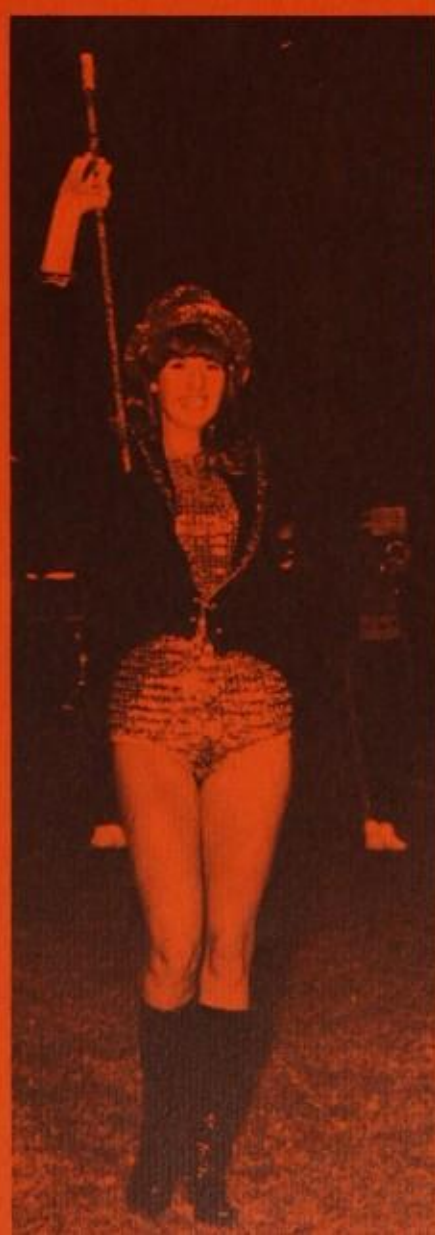

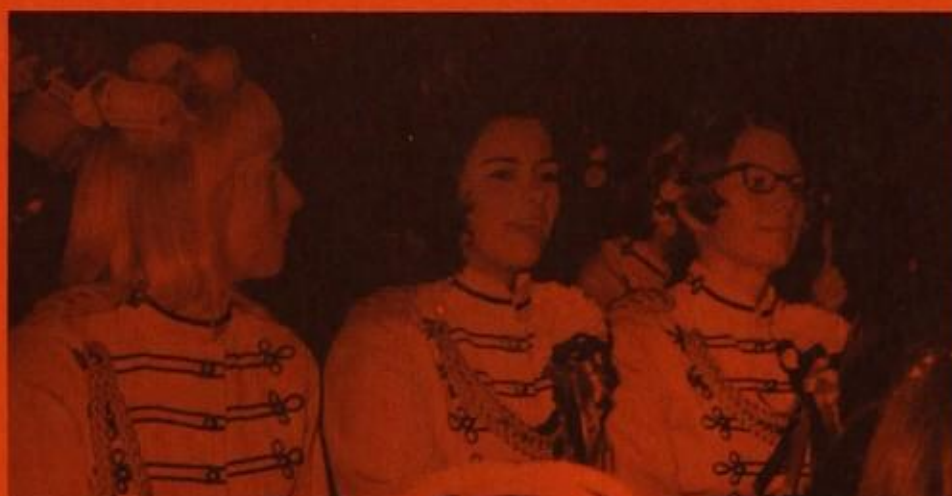

BAND QUEEN
Sandy Yost

HOMECOMING
QUEEN
Cindy Kozak

During football season, there are always two teams on the field of which we are equally proud. We cannot mention one without mentioning the other — our band.

Each game, as the band plays the alma mater, their instruments glistening under the stadium lights, and our school colors proudly displayed, we in the stands, cannot help but realize the great pride we have in their always — excellent performance.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY

The Senior Class play, always a valued memory. The work, the tension, the laughter, new and old friends working together. Long hours after school, snacks shared during rehearsal, surprise ad lib lines. Behind the scenes effort, strained quiet backstage, a full house. The subject, our troubled times. The ending, symbolically happy.

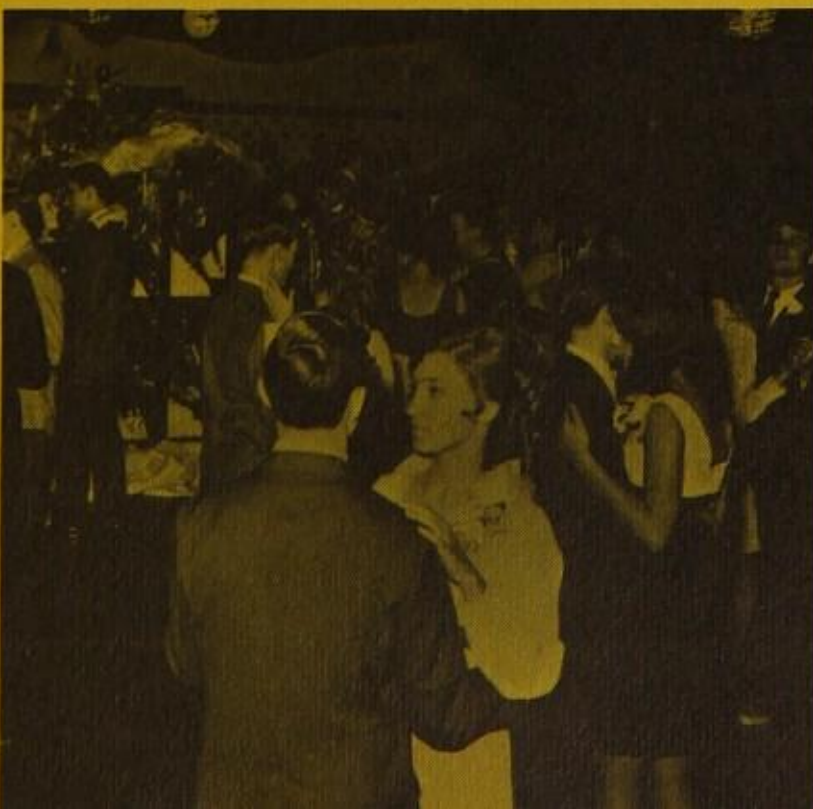

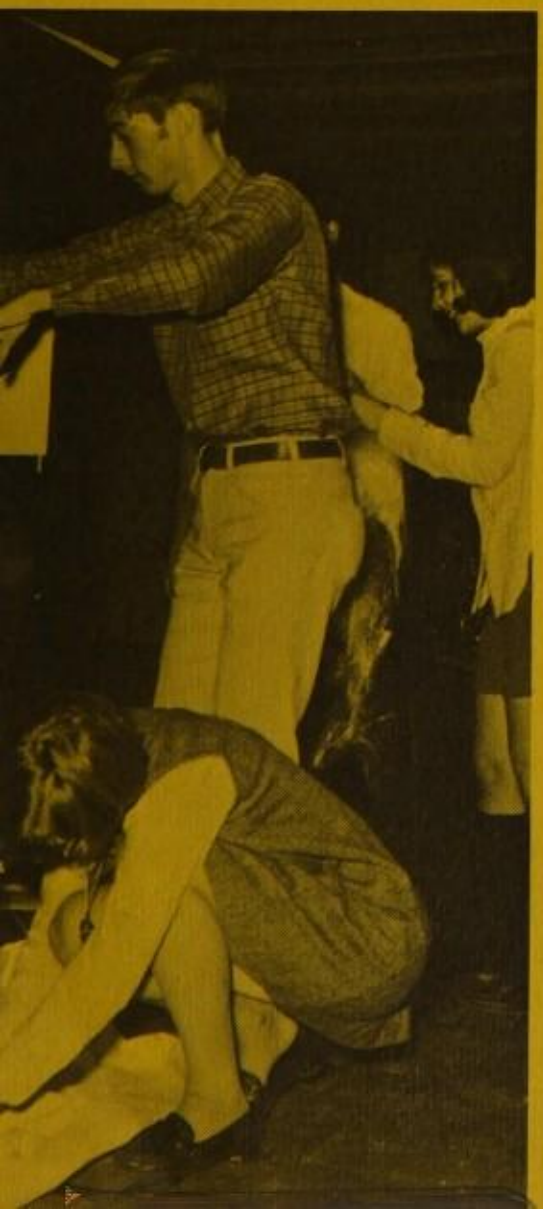

SNOWBALL SWIRL

A Christmas Fantasy.
The beauty of the season slowly transforms a gym into a ballroom. The thrill, the gaiety, little elves enforce the illusion of fantasy. A warm memory despite the winter cold.

MONTOUR AFTER DARK

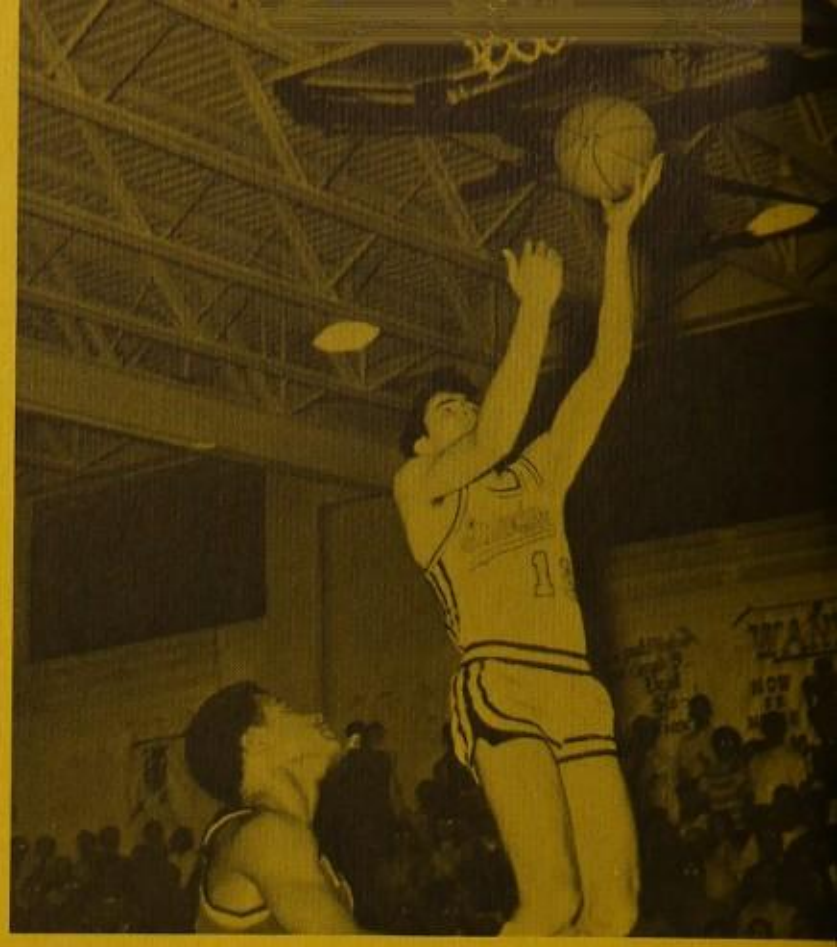

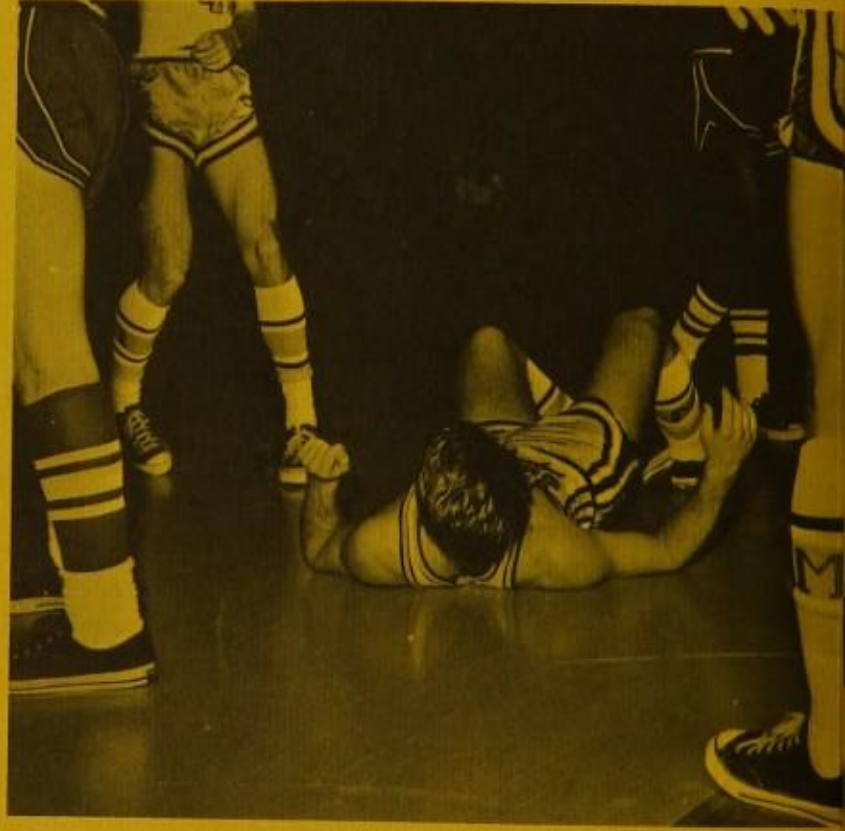

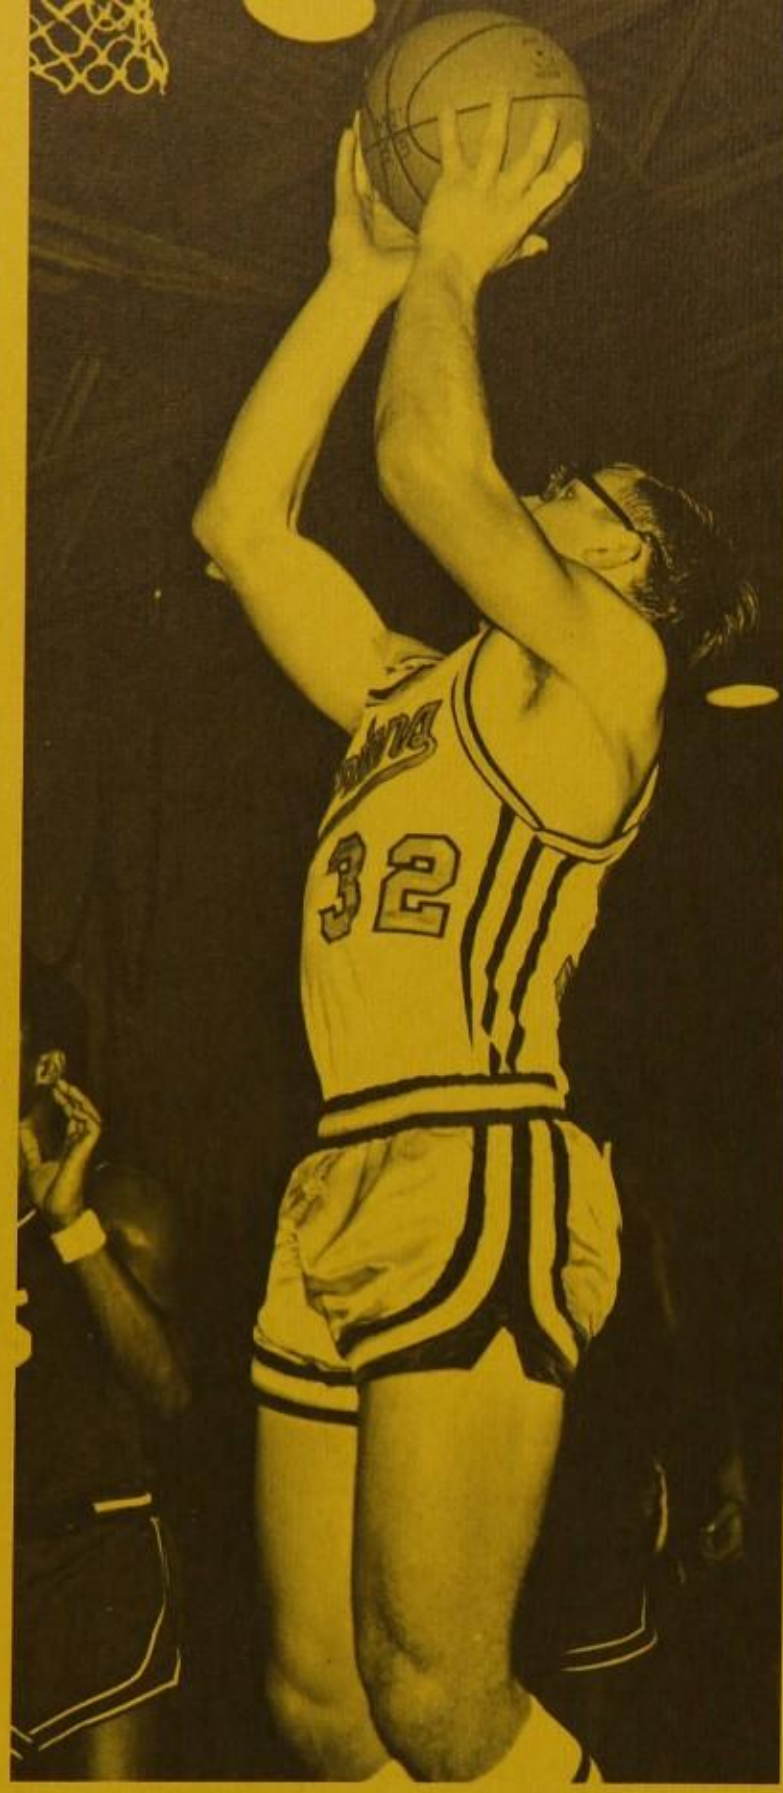

SNEAKER DAY

"HERE WE GO, MONTGOMERY, HERE WE GO!!"

Our court is filled, filled with Montour. Black and gold.
Excitement held in check. A traditional handslap precedes the jump ball.

"Jump ball! Get it Montour!"
And as if obeying our cheers,
we command the orange sphere.
Dextrous dribbling, a long shot from the side and we score!
As our opponents take control of the ball, our cheer engulfs
the gym.

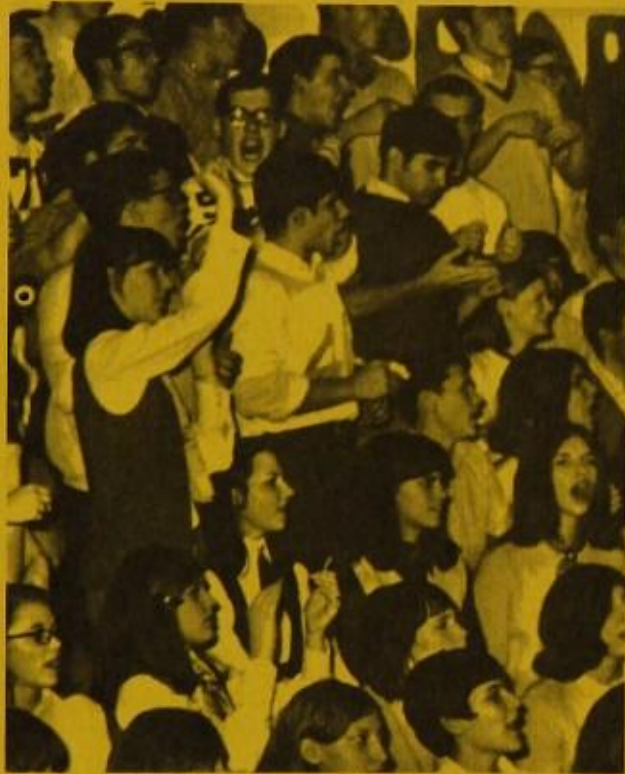

"Take it, take it a-way!"
Interception! Our spirits rise as we leap up. A sudden hush as our man, our irrepressible
Montour is scrunched to the floor.
A thousand fingers pointing,
"YOU, YOU, YOU!"
Seniors chanting, "We're number 1!
We're number 1!"

We travel with our Montour, our boys to the land of green and white.
An antiquated gym encloses us, smothers us. Wires prevent our escape to the mass of green and white below. Still we scream, attempting to outshout éach other.
We sweat, we fight, but we play clean. We cry, we hope, but we play clean. But we are downed, downed by the green and white.
And we smile, because we know we're the best, always the best, and we know the Field House is yet to come.

WE CAME

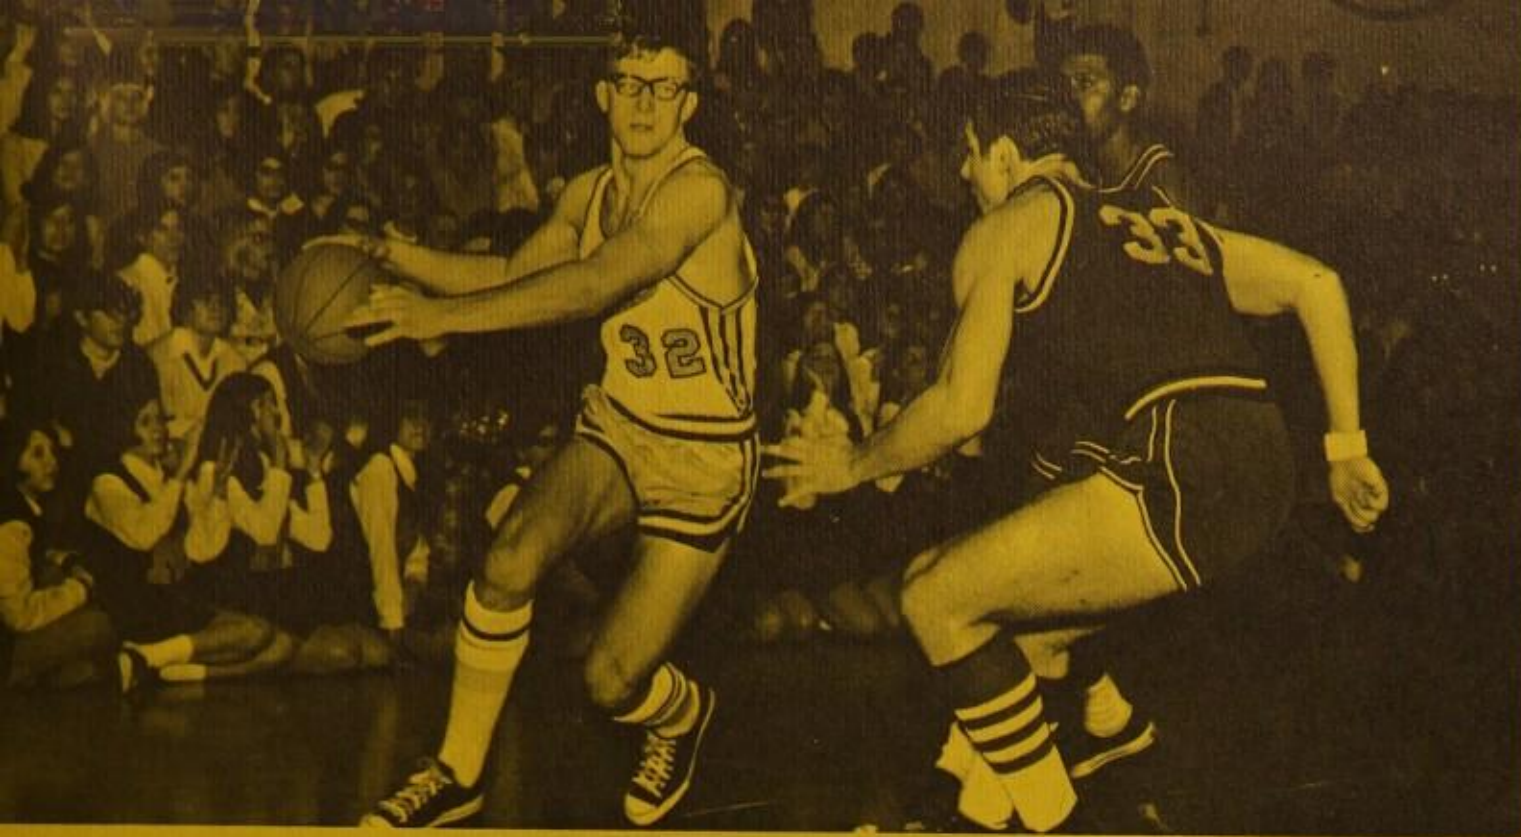

WE SAW

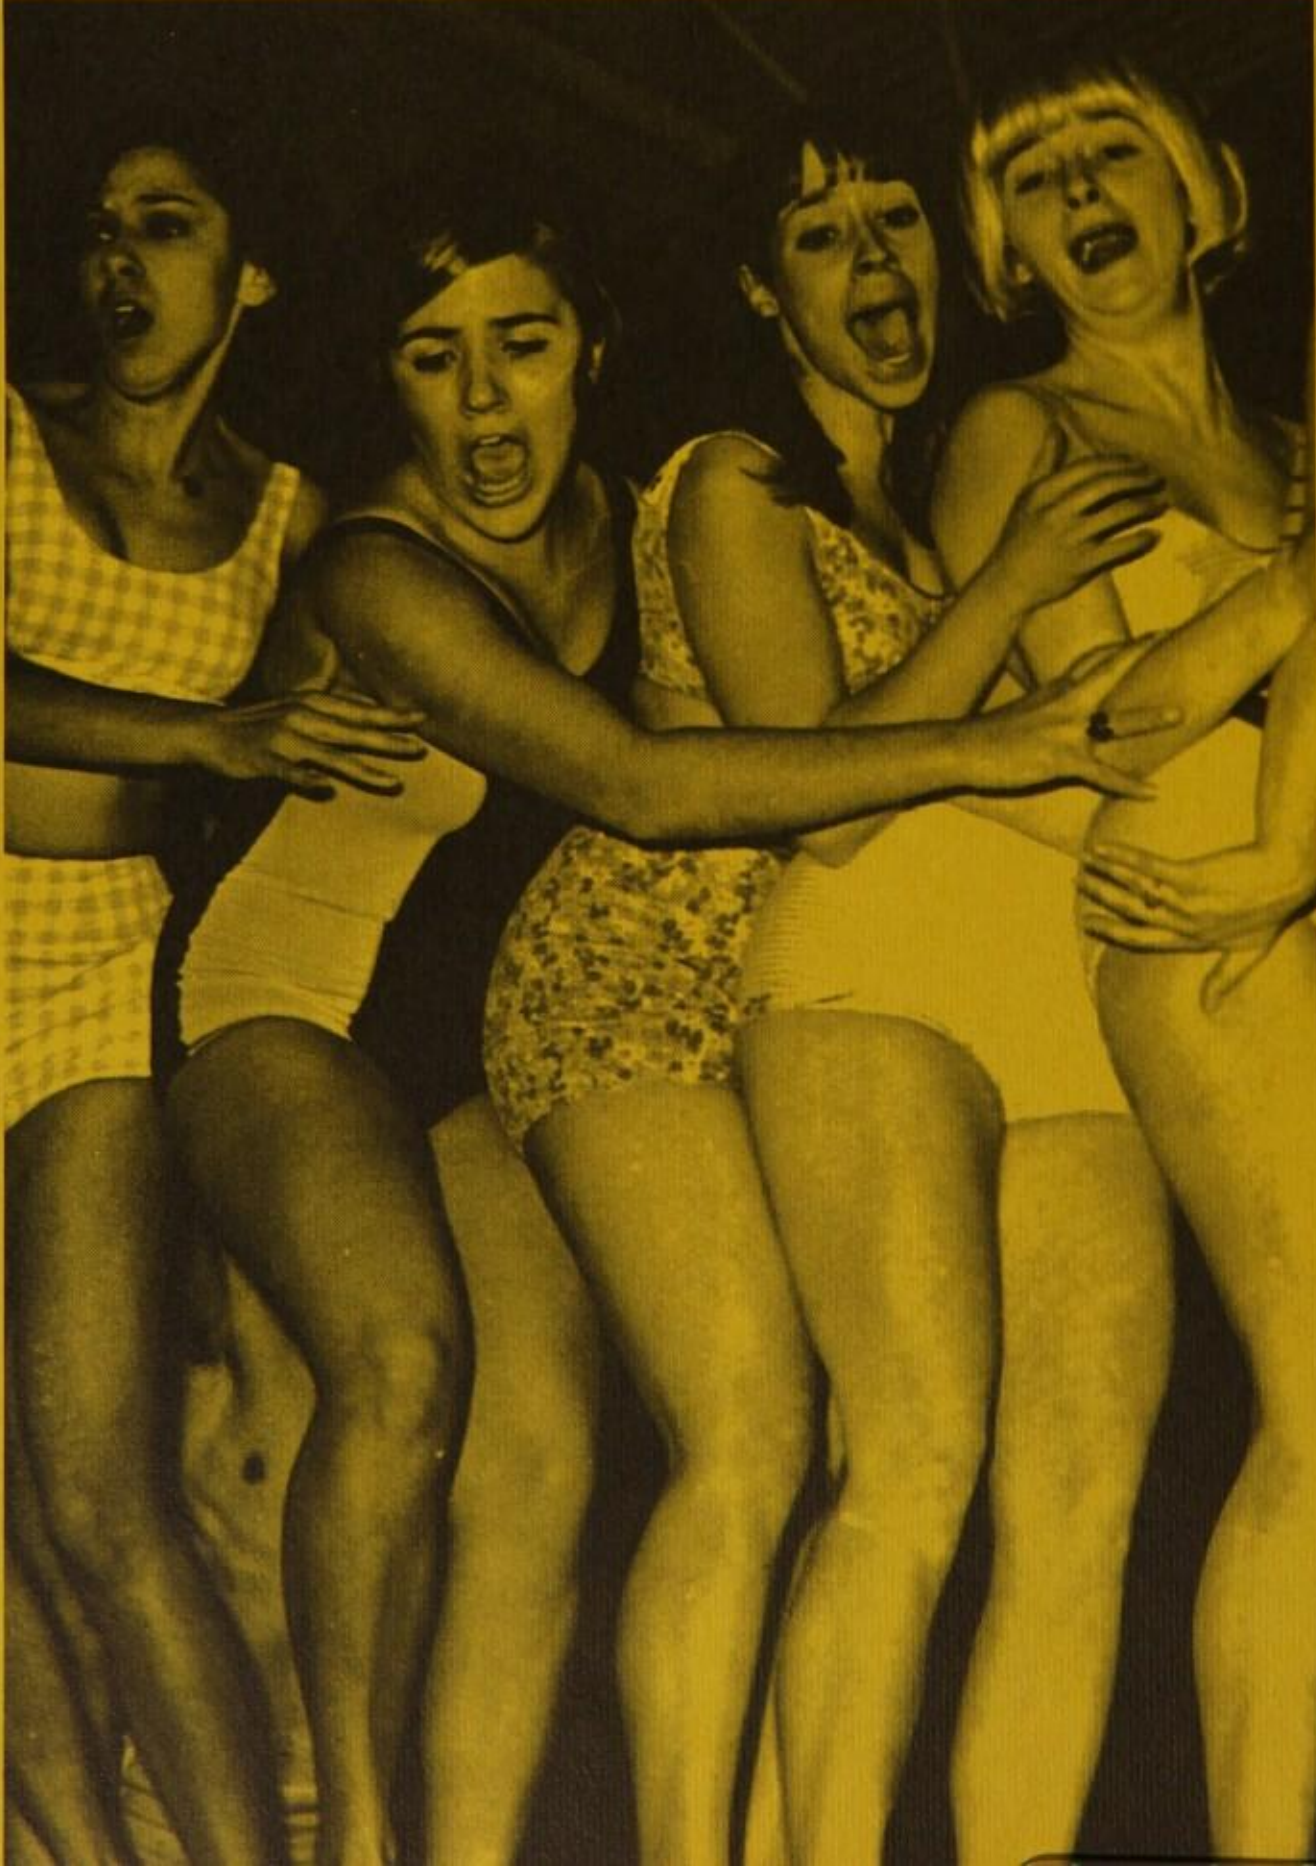

WE CONQUERED

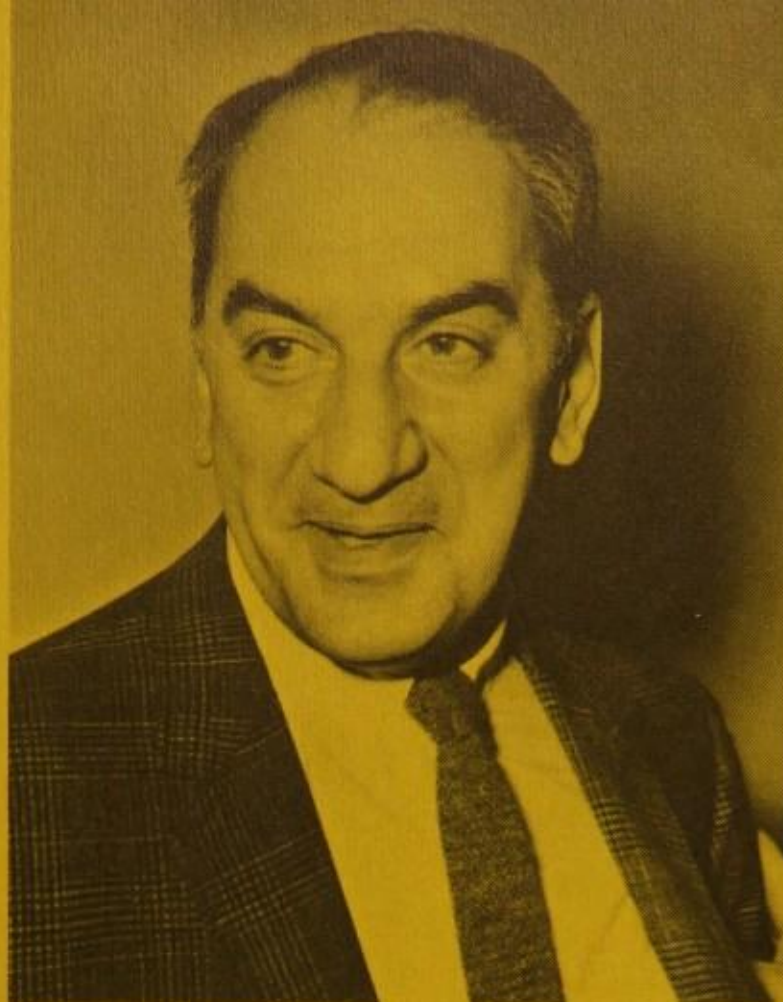

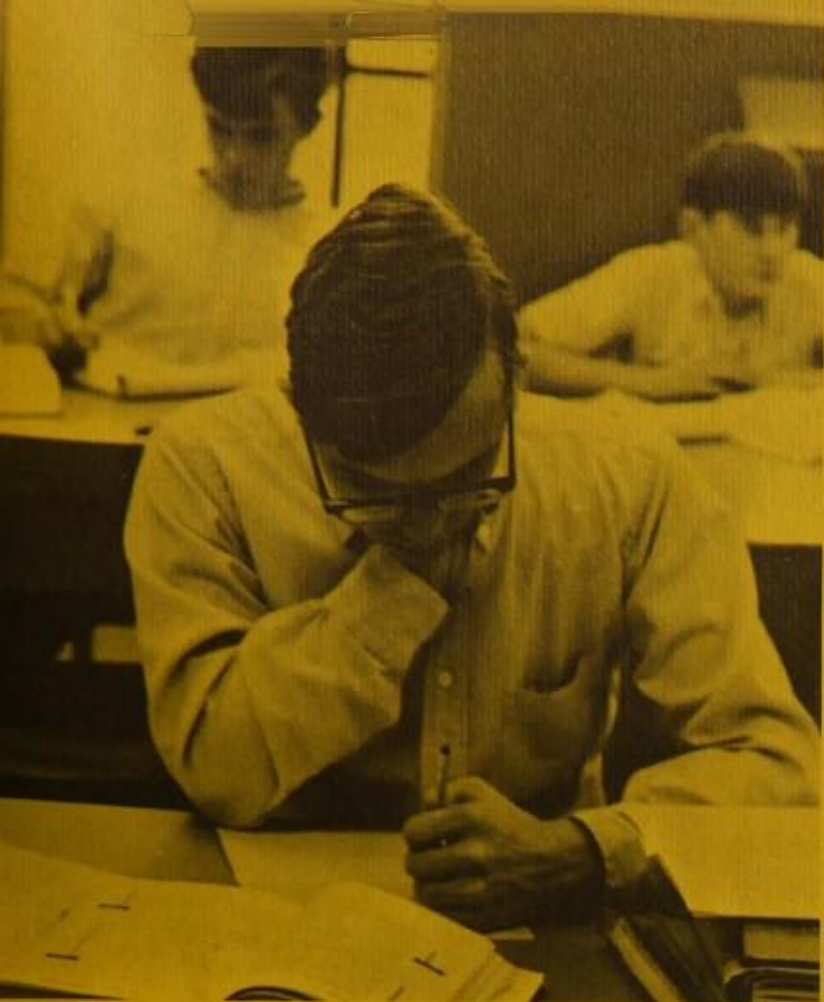

Due to production difficulties, pictures of the Field House game will be found on pages 156-157.

GRACE ON THE

Disastrous deadlines dangerously divide doting members of the delightful yearbook staff. Copious copy hardly coincides with laborious layout, fantastic photographs lose themselves and missing money poses problems.

ALL THIS FOR YOU,

Slides, home runs, outs, and flys beneath a laughing sun.
This is baseball.*

SAFE? SAFE!

SHHH!

Come see the clowns of the hour, puppets of the stage and great actors of the future!

Come hear the show people of the century!

Sports forecast the bright beginnings of a reluctant spring. Frost is yet on the track field; winter stiffness and last of winter colds plague the stars. Proverbial plodding rapidly switches to practical pacing and once again the track season bounds off toward its inevitable finish.

LET FREEDOM RING!

On the hills of Allegheny,
'neath the western sky,
Proudly stands our dear old high school,
On the hilltop high.
Flag we love, black and gold,
Wave aloft for aye.
May we all be leal and loyal,
To thy memory.

When the evening twilight gathers,
And the shadows fall,
Linger long the golden sunbeams,
On the western wall.
Flag we love, black and gold,
Wave aloft for aye,
May we all be leal and loyal,
To thy memory.

Much work has gone into the creation of a beautiful library. Shelf upon shelf of new circulating books as well as a superior collection of reference material have been made available to the conscientious student. A well-constructed floor plan has provided a comfortable seating arrangement plus special reading booths for quiet, uninterrupted study.

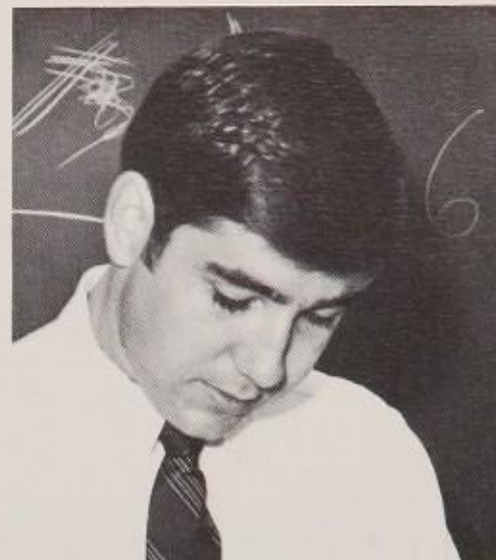

LIBRARY

In Art this year, an entirely new course of study has been developed. With the introduction of excellent new facilities, it was necessary that students learn the proper use and care of their materials and work areas. Secondly, first and fourth year students alike studied the fundamentals of color and design. It was not until after these skills had been mastered, that students were permitted to move on to advanced work and individual projects.

MUSIC

Mrs. Patricia Kirsch

The music department at Montour has focused much attention on the school through outstanding performances both by the Chorus and the Band. Continual practice and improvement by hard-working individuals are the reasons for the tremendous successes of both organizations.

In this election year, our discussion of current events in P.O.D. enabled us to learn a great deal about politics and the good citizen's roll in national elections. In our senior year, the study of Problems of Democracy enables us to develop our own opinions concerning major issues such as our nation's stand in Vietnam. In our first year we cover Pennsylvania history and learn to understand our state background more fully. We also devote time to the study of our government through Civics. In our second year we trace man's background to the very beginning through World Cultures. We devote all of our time to the study of the U.S. from the discovery of America to present-day politics, paying special attention to the Constitution in our course in U.S. History. Through the study of Economic Geography we gain a better understanding of the financial history of the U.S.

The English program at Montour is one of particular merit. A wide variety of work and study keeps student interest high. In the lower grades more basic skills such as reading, criticism, composition forms, vocabulary, and speech are stressed. In the higher grades we bore deeper into the art of writing and its intricacies such as style. In our senior year we study the English language itself, its background, development and changes, putting special emphasis on the study of literature of our most famous English ancestors such as Shakespeare.

At Montour, new opportunities for advanced study and new branches of study are being opened in the science field. A beautiful planetarium has been built into the new school as well as a spacious greenhouse. With these new developments, it is anticipated that new fields of study such as botany and astronomy will be offered in the near future. New fields of study will be a great complement to those already offered. Earth and space science classes have made use of the planetarium this year in their study of the stars and solar system. Physics and chemistry have been made even more interesting by new facilities in which to experiment with studied principles. Biology I and II have been able to delve even deeper into the studies of the intricacies of the plant and animal world and the complex study of the human body.

Math classes at Montour seem to expand and become more diverse each year. This year the new course of Analysis has been added to the curriculum in the hope that it will spark the addition of more new courses just as interesting. The other courses continue to be offered but could in no way be termed as the "old" courses because with the growth of new discoveries these courses also grow. New principles of modern math are added each year to the study of Algebra I and II. Geometry is covered with more detail each year. Trig and Calculus are delved into more deeply coming up with more new and interesting discoveries each time.

The excellence of Montour's language department is reflected in the increasing numbers of foreign language students each year. French, Latin, and Spanish are offered. With the addition of the new school has come new facilities such as the language lab and individual study rooms. With these aids, Montour students not only find it easier developing basic skills such as vocabulary and pronunciation, but also as they become more advanced, students may use them to widen their knowledge of the history and customs of the languages they study.

BUSINESS

Mr. Sidney Leff

Mrs. Janice Meade

Mr. John Wasco

The business department has continued this year with its outstanding program for preparing commercial students for their roles in the business world. Typing and shorthand are offered for those students bound for secretarial positions. Also, a wide variety of courses are offered to those students bound for other types of business careers. These include Business Exploratory, Business English, Office Practice and Management, Bookkeeping, and Business Law.

Perhaps the department which has benefited most by the addition of new facilities is that of physical education. A beautiful heated swimming pool has added not only a new area of physical education but also a new competitive sport. The addition of a new gym with two spacious floors has improved areas for physical education classes and indoor sports. All these new facilities have enabled the physical education teachers to develop a new and better fitness program for the students of Montour.

SHOP

Mr. Jim Newman

Mr. David McRoberts

Mr. Robert Fleming

Mr. Donald Drake

Shop classes provide an effective outlet for the creative talents of Montour boys. As well as courses in Wood and Metal shop, and Electronics, there are courses in Mechanical drawing under the fine direction of Mr. Newman. This class is one of several that is rapidly expanding to include female students as well as male students in its program.

Mrs. Carole Sye

Mrs. Carol Miner

Home Economics at Montour has always been noted for its fine program. Through their training in this class young girls learn the successful managing of a house and home. At the same time, they learn the fine arts of cooking, sewing, and home decorating. All these skills mingle to form the qualities that make a woman a good wife and mother, one of the major aims of this class.

DRIVING

Driver's Education classes grow larger and more advanced each year. Under Mr. Birko's capable direction, students learn the rules and regulations concerning driving as well as gaining practical experience in operation of an automobile. The combination of skill in these fields has led to the development of many responsible young drivers at Montour.

Senior life is football games in the Fall, flying confetti, spilt Cokes, the Victory song. It's laughing in the halls, informal classes, a constant spirit of fun. Being a senior is studying for a P. O. D. Test, memorizing Macbeth, and college board tests on a Saturday morning. It's going to the basketball games, wearing your Pep Club Sweatshirts, and Sneaker Day. Senior life is practicing for Commencement, trying on your caps and gowns, and the Prom. It's laughing; it's tears and fond memories. Being a senior isn't just a time or a place, it's a state of mind.

GOLF

Montour came to the Field House as one. One soul, one mind, one heart.
 And Montour strode through the enemy with his hand in his pocket and swarmed to the ceiling, bursting the rafters with his cheer. One cheer, one goal, one end.
 Beat Sto, beat Rox, beat Sto-Rox.
 Montour's team came on the floor, calm, unhurried, muffling a thousand pounding hearts, a thousand anxious bodies, a thousand sweaty palms.
 And we became five. Five players at stake, five boys, five men. We became five, sealed to the players with our lettered shirts, lettered minds, lettered cheers.
 Beat Sto, beat Rox, beat Sto-Rox.
 Montour fought, fought the battle of the refs, the battle of the enemy, and the battle of themselves.

WE TRY HARDER

So Montour became one. One senior struggling to make 1969 his year, his victory, his accomplishment; knowing next year he can't belong, can't really chant for his school, can't form the seal between himself and his players. And Montour was winning proudly, courageously, and by three points. But with the force of a downed beast, a beast knowing he's through, Sto-Rox delivered its last blow. Davy and Goliath. One stone, one, throw, one victory: 56-58. Montour broke into 10,000 pieces, 10,000 parts of a whole, 10,000 parts of the school.

But our team, our Goliath, gathered the pieces and made them just a little bit better than before, just a little prouder, just a little greater. And Montour left the Field House as one, one Senior cheering from a yellow bus.

Happy reminder.

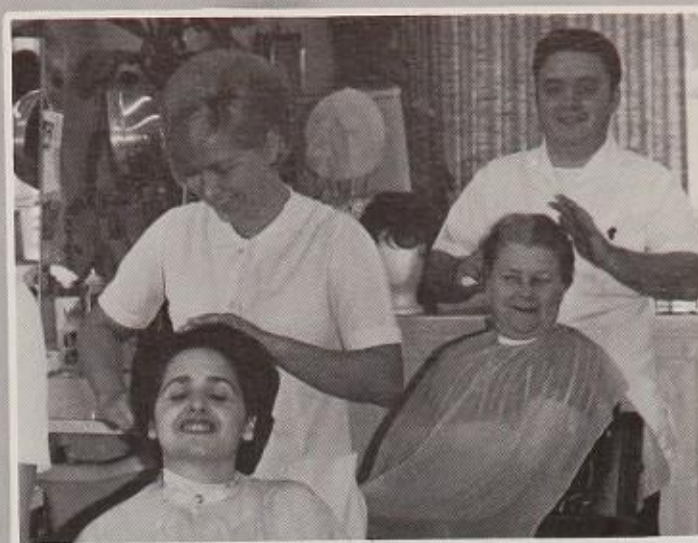

Life ahead offers many uncertainties.
But throughout the years one constant remains.
Your Balfour class ring. It will never fail as a happy reminder of the golden years you shared with your classmates. Wear it with pleasure.

The financial problems which trouble any yearbook staff and seem at times almost overwhelming are partially solved by means of an advertising section. We are grateful to all those who have so generously contributed their support to our book, particularly to the business establishments which have been faithful to us for several years.

Once again we have included a student ad section, which we feel is an interesting and unique addition to our book. Each ad was designed by a member of a particular group; Mr. Cook, the art teacher at David E. Williams Junior High School, studied the entries and selected the best.

The winning ad designed by Sue Milsak, received full page coverage and appears on the following page.

We salute our friends and the ad designers:

*The End.
But what is The End?
Nothing more than One Act
in the Play of Life.
"All the world's a stage,
and all the men and women merely players . . .".*
The End?
Never, just a new act beginning.*

From As You Like It*

Mae, you need a great period just met that you may just the way you are in to promise the men come here
white coats will come here need to get you. Good luck always!
